CHAIR COMMENTS

November is shaping up to be another busy and positive month for WYCANN, and we are especially pleased to welcome our new CANN member organisations to the network. It is fantastic to see our community continuing to grow, bringing new expertise, connections and opportunities to share knowledge and strengthen support for children, young people and families across West Yorkshire.

There are also some great SEND activities taking place locally this month. SEND Silent Disco, hosted by Wakefield Parent Carer Forum in Castleford on 10 November, offers children with SEND and their siblings an inclusive evening of music and dancing, with adjustable headsets and a chill-out space. For professionals and supporters, the SOLD OUT Little Hiccups Neon Ball is taking place in Leeds later in the month. Over in Bradford, a SEND Marketplace event is taking place at Barkerend Family Hub on 30 November. With plenty happening across our WYCANN community, November is a great opportunity to make new connections, share what is working locally and continue building a stronger network around the families we support. As always, please keep sharing events, resources and opportunities with us. Sometimes one introduction or piece of information can open the door to exactly the support a family needs.

Harewood House 'Recruiting' new Community Groups

I also just wanted to let you all know that we are 'recruiting' new CAM groups, as it were. If you are able to pass on the good word about Harewood to any of your fellow charities in the local area that you think would benefit from being a part of our CAM scheme, we would love for them to get in touch with us and hopefully join us in the new year! The more lovely people that we can help to access Harewood, the better :)

Clarry

Help us understand the need for holiday activities and support for young people aged 18+ with SEND

Parents and carers have told us that there are limited opportunities for young people aged 18 and over during school and college holidays.

We want to better understand the experiences of families, the types of activities and support that are needed, and any gaps in provision across the city.

Your feedback will help us explore future opportunities and inform discussions about holiday provision for young adults with Special Educational Needs and Disabilities (SEND).

The survey should take approximately 5 minutes to complete.

Thank you for taking the time to share your views.

Complete the survey here: https://surveys.leeds.gov.uk/s/MDS2SM/

Relaxed Pantomime Performance at Carriageworks

I'm reaching out from the Carriageworks Theatre in Leeds, where we're working hard to promote the Relaxed Performances of our pantomime, Jack and the Beanstalk.

Relaxed performances allow members of the audience to move around freely and leave or enter the auditorium as needed. Lights never go completely dark and sound effects are softened. These performances are designed to welcome children and adults who are neurodivergent, have a learning disability, dementia, or sensory and communication differences. We encourage audiences who do not require this type of performance, to try and book another date if they can, to promote an inclusive and safe space where people can enjoy the performance as they wish.

Our relaxed performances are on Sun 29 Nov at 1pm, Thu 3 Dec at 1.30pm*, Mon 21 Dec at 2.30pm, Sun 27 Dec at 1pm. *Please note that Thu 3 Dec & 1pm is also a school's performance.

Rinse and Repeat

Wash. Spin. Rinse. Repeat. Meet us at the Interplay Laundrette, where the cycle runs like clockwork. Workers Lavender and Eucalyptus show us the rumble of the machines, and the flutter of warm sheets, with movement and sensory discoveries that includes you in the action! Every wash tells a story, and each ritual keeps the laundrette clean and on track.

Celebrate the sensory joy of spinning and popping with us, with a soundtrack inspired by your favourite pop divas and kpop stars, sung live with a twist! Because sometimes, all it takes is one fresh pair of eyes, with rose-tinted glasses, to turn a laundrette into something extraordinary.

It's for your school

This show is made for SEND and specialist school settings. It is intended to be delivered in your school environment. We provide a high quality arts experience that are made with young people with PMLD and their families.

What this means:

- A calm, inclusive and flexible performance structure
- Pupils engage at their own pace
- Suitable for mixed-ability groups
- Delivered by experienced sensory theatre practitioners
- It aligns with Engagement Model areas and complements Expressive Arts & Design, Understanding the World, and Communication & Interaction

Means, Reasons & Opportunity

When devising this show we consider the 'means, reasons and opportunities' model. We find it useful to think about the way we are supporting the communication skills of young people with a learning disability.

We have ensured this show does all three. We supply the means in various different ways including through touch and interaction with the set and the actors. We provide opportunities built into the structure of the show giving space to the young people to participate. We give the reasons to take both of the above up by accessing a narrative and worlds building in a space they are familiar with.

We want this show to have legacy in your classroom and this work gives opportunities for communication about the show in your learning environment for months to come. We provide an Education pack with various ways to continue the sensory joy and capatalise on engagement.

A Supportive, Practical Course for Parents Using Music With Their Children

If you'd like to feel more confident using music to connect with your child — especially if they have additional or complex needs — our two-day course Making Music with Special Children may be a wonderful fit.

You don't need to be musical. You don't need to sing in tune. You just need curiosity and a willingness to explore.

What you'll learn

Simple ways to use music to support communication and bonding
How rhythm and pulse can help with focus and regulation
Creative ideas for using music, even with limited time or resources
Using iPads to make music
Approaches that work for children with a wide range of needs

"Certainly one of the very best courses I have ever attended - truly transformative! Heartfelt thanks to the tutors- and to the participants. I had a very rewarding time with my little granddaughter on Sunday, whose dancing back and forth along the sofa I accompanied with up and down arpeggios causing squeals of delight." Christopher, grandparent

Exhibition description:
NO CRY FOR HELP IS LOUD ENOUGH
An installation of Photography and text made through a collaboration between Artist & Curator Benedict Phillips and the Lotus Links Peer Support community. Exploring and expressing deeply personal and emotive shared experiences of Neurodivergence in conflict with institutional processes and thinking.
This work involves considerable personal investment, discussing, exploring and finding different ways to express what is often left unsaid in public spaces and finding a way to communicate this through Art.
This work comes from a desire to tell stories in response to what has happened in the past and what is happening right now in people's lives. It explores emotive lived experience through ideas of activism, performance, poetry and photography with a clear intention to be a provocation, and to open up a debate around the hierarchy and relationships between institutions and their policies and the individual. Highlighting the impact on parents and their children who find themselves living in conflict with the normative and ableism of our world all around them.
